

Teacher Physics 1st degree, 0,2 – 0,5 fte (temporary)

Ready to inspire the next generation of global thinkers? Do you love exploring the wonders of physics with curious, internationally minded students? Can you turn complex theories into engaging lessons that spark critical thinking and real-world connections? At Rivers International School Arnhem, we're looking for a Physics teacher who can challenge and motivate our diverse DP students. Sounds like you? Keep reading—we'd like to meet you!

Your job

Physics is more than just formulas and equations—it's the foundation of how the world works. And you love bringing that to life for your international students! Whether it's discussing the laws of motion, exploring electromagnetism, or diving into quantum mechanics, you make complex concepts clear, engaging, and relevant.

You'll be teaching upper secondary DP students who are eager to be challenged. They ask questions, think critically, and enjoy making connections between theory and real-world applications. You'll guide them through the curriculum, help them develop strong analytical skills, and possibly support them with research projects or exam preparation.

You teach Physics following the International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme, ensuring students gain a deep understanding of the subject while developing the skills they need for higher education and beyond.

You are...

... a teacher who understands that our students come from all over the world. Some were born in the Netherlands but have lived abroad for many years, while others were born abroad and are now living in the Netherlands. You know how to use these diverse experiences to enrich their learning. You understand that international students often need different kinds of support, both academically and socially. You are patient, a good listener, and know how to create a safe and inclusive learning environment. You encourage them to reach their full potential, no matter their background, and you know how to embrace cultural diversity to ensure everyone feels heard and understood.

About us (Rivers International School Arnhem / Lorentz Lyceum)

We want our students to become caring and principled world citizens. We aim to reach this goal by stimulating their curiosity and developing their personal academic and social potential.

Our balanced and rigorous IB programs enable our students to gain the skills, the breadth and depth of knowledge, and a positive attitude towards learning that will also prepare them for success in later life.

Rivers International School Arnhem is a small and caring international community, which is able to draw on the resources of a larger partner school. We provide a stimulating learning environment and guide our students in an atmosphere of intercultural understanding and respect.

Why do I work at Rivers International School Arnhem?

- 'At Rivers, I particularly like our student-centred curriculum emphasizing the development of skills through inquiry and concept-based teaching and learning – it allows me to fully tap into my own creativity to support my students' natural curiosity. It is a dream come true for me as a professional teacher.'

- 'The atmosphere here at River is really special. I have taught in many international schools, but nowhere have I encountered such an atmosphere of mutual respect and understanding as at Rivers. It is quite unique, and I feel blessed to be able to be part of it.'
